To Whom It May Concern

Khalifa Empowerment Program – AQDAR is a governmental youth and community program in UAE. It is responsible for designing, developing, implementing and reviewing various empowerment programs in the United Arab Emirates.

The UK Safer Internet Centre is a partnership between Childnet International, IWF and SWGfL, part-funded by the European Union and part of the Insafe-INHOPE network. The UK Safer Internet Centre have worked with the Khalifa Empowerment Program in developing the strategy and structure for their efforts to participate in the Safer Internet Day. They have become the UAE’s official representative in this annual global event and they have created several events including workshops, social media campaigns and nationwide celebrations.

As the UK Safer Internet Centre, it is our opinion that their efforts are essential in spreading the online safety message across UAE and it leads to the participation of several governmental, private and NGOs.

Yours sincerely,

David Wright
Director UK Safer Internet Centre
