Referee’s comments

- “Donimo” of Seodaemun Police Station Donimo Mentoring is a compound word formed from “Doni” of Donuimun which is a symbol of Seodaemun-gu and “Mo” from the word moim which means a gathering in Korean. As its name, Donimo Mentoring is a mentor-mentee gathering based on friendship. This program is for teenagers who are psychologically unstable while undergoing the growth period, especially for those who have ever suffered from or have ever been involved in school violence and those who are at risk outside of school and home. College students and teenagers are connected to each other as mentors and mentees. The purpose of the program is to guide teenagers in the right direction by fostering emotional stability.

- This program has been continued for seven years from 2012. The Seodaemun-gu Office has been providing mentoring activity allowances and giving its full support for semi-annual field trips for experiential learning.

- By providing counseling support based on an organic cooperation system, mentors took good care of a mentee who attempted suicide by leaping to death due to family trouble. As a result, the student overcame difficulties and was accepted to Kimpo University’s Department of Police & Security Studies through non-scheduled admission in November 18. The student now dreams of becoming a police officer.

- A mentor was assigned to a female student with mental retardation grade 3 who ran away from home frequently and had difficulty adjusting to school. The student is now well adjusted both at home and school.
- Seodaemun-gu Office’s support for the mentoring program is helping at-risk teenagers go back to their homes and contributing to creating a safe society from school violence. I recommend Seodaemun-gu Office as a candidate for the UN Public Service Awards, having high regards for its concerns and support by both material and psychological means for teenagers.

I hereby recommend Seodaemun-gu Office as a candidate for UN Public Service Awards.
